About Our Organization

End of Life Choices Oregon is a 501(c)(3) organization that works with Oregonians who are considering end-of-life options. We are comprised of regional volunteers who are uniquely trained to provide skilled professional guidance. Our volunteers have up to 20 years of specialized experience stewarding people through the Death With Dignity Act and other end-of-life choices. We are non-judgmental, as we work one-on-one with you and your family to personally guide you through these challenging transitions. Please visit our website at eolcoregon.org for more information.

Qualifying For DWDA

To qualify for Oregon's Death With Dignity Act, a person must meet these requirements:

- Six-month prognosis by two physicians
- Mental decision-making capacity
- Minimum 18 years of age
- Oregon resident
- Ability to self-administer medication

If either the prescribing or consulting doctor questions the person's mental capacity, a psychological evaluation may be required.

Consulting With Your Physician

Upon receiving a six-month terminal prognosis, it is important to communicate your medical wishes to your doctor. If your intention is to pursue the Death With Dignity Act, you must ask if your doctor will act as your prescribing or your consulting physician. If all your doctors decline, talk to your EOLCOR volunteer.

Our Services

When contacting EOLCOR, you will be connected with an intake specialist who will focus on your own specific needs. Depending upon your requirements and preferences, you will be offered a volunteer who can meet with you to provide pertinent information and guidance. Your volunteer will be your single point of contact to help steward you through the Death With Dignity Act or other end of life options. We tailor our services to you and your family, according to your preferences during this difficult transition.
